

RECOVERY TRAINING ASSOCIATION

FREE BRIEFINGS FEBRUARY AND MARCH 2007

During February 2007 the RTA will be holding a series of briefings for those Recovery Vehicle Operators who are concerned about the new changes, and in the way they will have to operate, from 11th April this year. It is absolutely vital for them to fully understand them, and decide how they will comply with the new rules.

Operators need to know just what, if any, changes that must be made to manage and plan operations. The RTA has got together a team who have vast experience of compliance with the regulations covering Driver's Hours of Work and recording those hours. The informative presentations will offer practical expert advice on operating within the law, and will deal solely with recovery vehicle operators.

The programme will include:

- Daily Driving Limits
- Daily Rest Periods
- Weekly Rest Periods
- Reduced Periods of Rest
- Breaks
- Fortnightly Limits
- Use of Tachographs
- Need for an Operator's Licence
- Operations inside the 100 KM radius
- Operations outside the 100 Km radius
- Penalties
- Definitions
- Question and Answer Session

Who should attend?

Directors; Owners; Transport Managers; Operations Staff and Supervisors.
